The Utah Aquatic Invasive Species Management Plan was developed by the Utah Aquatic Invasive Species Task Force. The task force is comprised of tribal, federal, state, and local government natural resource managers; water user interests; and organized fishing groups who have either interest or authority for natural resource management actions. The task force and many individual members of the public provided direction and comment relative to the plan.

A glossary of terms used in this plan can be perused in Appendix J.

A special thanks is justly afforded to the following individuals (grouped with no logical order by agency), who are all members of the Utah Aquatic Invasive Species Task Force. Each member was generous in supporting development of the plan. All on the Task Force gave selflessly to achieve an improved situation for aquatic invasive species management in Utah.
